IMMENSE THROG CROWDS CITY PARK AT GET-TOGETHER PARTY

Story About 3,000 Chickens Being Slain Proves No Myth And There Is Enough To Go Around, With a Lot to Spare, Proving That Farmers' Wives Never Do Things by Halves.

Automobiles. Fill All Available Space and Are Parked For Blocks Leading to Park.

How well the members of the Rush County Farmers' association, very ably assisted by their wives, entertained at the county picnic at the city park today, can best be determined by the testimony of some twelve thousand people who enjoyed the feast.

The park was literally clogged and jammed with people and automobiles. Every bit of parking space in the park was used up and for blocks on all the streets leading to the park automobiles were lined.

Officials of the farmers' association estimated there were twenty-five hundred automobiles, which alone would account for ten thousand people, and some were of the opinion that twelve thousand was too conservative an estimate of the crowd.

The story about three thousand chickens being slain was no myth. The farmers' wives of the county never do anything by halves and today proved no exception. They brought so many chickens that even the multitudes got enough.

And salads, sweet potatoes, pies, cakes, cottage cheese, pickles, tomatoes, beet pickles, honey, fresh fruit, several kinds of meat in addition to chicken—there seemed to be no end of it. Folks who didn't get enough to eat at one tent visited another, and so on down the line until they had run the gauntlet of twelve township serving committees.

The immense throng of people was jolly and good-natured. Neighbors and friends visited with each other and many who had been passing on the streets of Rushville for years without knowing one another, became acquainted before the day was over.

Four large tents belonging to auctioneers of the county provided the tents under which the food was served, three townships to the tent. The tents were erected in a line running north and south, just west of the coliseum.

In the first tent could be found the women's committees of Anderson, Rushville and Noble townships, surrounded by heaps and heaps of food, most tempting looking, but not even so tempting looking as it was really good. In the second tent were the committees from Jackson, Posey and Richland, ready to feed the hungry crowd. In the third tent were the Ripley, Walker and Center committees and in the last were those representing Union, Washington and Orange townships.

Everything that by any stretch of the imagination could be utilized for a table was used by the people while eating dinner. Fenders of automobiles served as ideal places for resting a tincup full of coffee between bites. The running boards of automobiles were very convenient for the weary folks who could not enjoy such a feast standing up. They scattered to the far corners of the city park; these hungry thousands who came for something to eat—and how they got it.

This afternoon, about two o'clock, the afternoon program began in the

School Children Turned

The Rushville school children were turned loose on the oodles of food which was left after everyone had been served at the county picnic this afternoon. Supt. J. H. Scholl, who was at the park, was consulted, and readily consented to excuse the children so that they could have a treat. He telephoned all the buildings, notifying the teachers of the arrangement. Children of school age were not guests because it was thought all of the children of the county could not have been accommodated.

coliseum. John Napier Dyer of Vincennes, who is the originator in Indiana of the farmers and merchants get together dinner and picnics, made the principal address.

Judge Sparks announced the county corn show which will be held here in a few months and which is described in another place in this issue of the paper. The letter from George I. Christie, director of the extension department of Purdue university, expressing his regret at being unable to attend the county picnic, was also read to the crowd which filled every bit of available space in the coliseum.

There was also to be entertainment by the Hoosier Harmony Trio, three male singers from Indianapolis, and by a magician, also of Indianapolis.

Visitors were here from many points in Indiana, among them L. M. Sefton, president of the Decatur County Farmers' association, who came over to Rush county to see how such a thing is pulled off.

John G. Brown, president of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' associations, and Lewis F. Taylor, secretary, were unable to attend the picnic on account of a previous engagement, but Everett McClure of Aurora, first vice-president, and Maurice Douglas, of Flatrock, second vice-president, were present.

DISAGREES AFTER ALL-DAY SESSION

Circuit Court Jury Unable to Reach Agreement in Case of Stout Vs. Brown.

TEN FOR THE DEFENDANT

The jury in the case of Will Y. Stout against Oliver N. Brown, failed to reach an agreement late yesterday afternoon, after deliberating all day, and shortly before five o'clock returned to the court room, being unable to render a verdict for the plaintiff or defendant.

The case was filed by Stout, who alleged that he had been damaged on account of a breach of contract, and sought $295 judgment. Witnesses were examined and the arguments were given in the case on Wednesday, and the first thing yesterday morning, the case was sent to the jury for deliberation.

It was understood yesterday following their failure to reach an agreement, that the jury voted 10 to 2 on every ballot, in favor of the defendant, but the other two failed to change their decision.

Magnifying Device Used To Entertain

"Is Donald Ball on the ground?" came a voice to the ears of Mr. Ball, the county agent, while he was standing near the entrance to the city park today.

He looked all around but saw no one who looked like they might have wanted him. He asked several people, but they denied calling him.

It was some time afterwards that Mr. Ball learned that Walter Hubbard, speaking into the Magnavox, a sound magnifying device on a Sonora phonograph, several hundred feet away, had uttered the words.

The device was attached to a Sonora, sitting in a truck at the north end of the park, and was used to entertain the crowds during the day. It was also utilized to make announcements as the Magnavox magnified the sound of the voice so that it carried several times the distance it would ordinarily travel. A recruiting officer for the United States army sang several solos with the use of the device.

In addition to this, it is probable that every township farmers association in the county—twelve in number—will offer a special prize of $25 in township corn shows on the same day, in which event there Continued on Page Six

Mr. King wishes to extend to the business interests of Rushville his most sincere thanks for the extreme courtesy extended to him in his efforts to explain the methods and workings of the State Chamber.

Dyer Says It's Beyond Comparison

John N. Dyer of Vincennes, the "daddy" of the get-together meetings of farmers and business men in Indiana, who spoke at the county picnic this afternoon, said he found nothing in his vocabulary to express the surprise he felt at his first sight of the city park shortly after his arrival in Rushville at 11:34 o'clock this morning.

"The first meeting of this character was held in Vincennes about six years ago," said Mr. Dyer. "Since that time I have attended some fifteen or sixteen of them, but never yet have I seen anything to compare with this. It is absolutely beyond all comparison. I can see by this demonstration that there is a wonderful spirit of co-operation between the country folk and the townspeople. It is something which can not be overworked and I congratulate the people of Rush county on this marvelous expression of community spirit today."

Mr. Dyer remained in Rushville for the evening and will address a meeting of the Rotary club at 6:30 at the Social club, at which officers of the farmers' association and some visitors will be guests. Mr. Dyer recently retired as first vice-president of the International Association of Rotary Clubs.

Community Picnic Attracts State Wide Attention and Brings Writers to Rushville

EDITOR OF FARM LIFE TALKS

George Weymouth of Spencer, Indiana, editor of Farm Life, a monthly farm publication, was one of the Rushville visitors today who came to see what Rush county has accomplished in the way of community development.

"I am especially interested in seeing how this experiment comes out," said Mr. Weymouth, "because there is considerable interest centered on this question right now. This meeting looks like a long step towards developing community spirit and I was very anxious to be here today and see how it is done."

Mr. Weymouth came to gather some facts and get some data on the meeting for an article to be published in the November number of the magazine.

Other writers on farm subjects, for both magazines and newspapers, were expected today because the event has attracted attention throughout the state.

T. R. Johnson of Lafayette, publicity agent for the extension department of Purdue university, and T. A. Coleman, in charge of county agent in Indiana, were here today as representatives of the university. George I. Christie, whose suggestion at Farmers Day last March, was in a measure responsible for the picnic today, was unable to be present, having been called to Chicago on business.

RUNS INTO BUGGY

An automobile driven south in Main street this morning shortly before noon, struck the delivery buggy of the Peoples Meat Market, but no serious damage, other than a broken shaft resulted. The machine was being driven slowly and the driver is said to have become confused.

CHRISTIE SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

Head of Purdue University Extension Department Regrets Inability to Attend

CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED

Declares in Message Read at Meeting This Afternoon Agriculture Depends on it

In a message to Fred Bell, president of the Rush county Farmers' association, read at the meeting in the coliseum this afternoon, George I. Christie, head of the Purdue university extension department, expressed his regrets at being unable to attend today and congratulated the people of Rush county on the get-together spirit shown at the meeting.

Prof. Christie comments on the dinner party given by the merchants of Rushville last March, at which he spoke. At that time he suggested that the farmers of the county give a picnic for the business men this fall and it was his suggestion that was a large measure responsible for the beginning of the movement which ended in the demonstration today. Prof. Christie said:

September 16, 1920

Dear Mr. Bell:—

It is with deep regret that I find it impossible to attend the Rush County Farmers' and Business Men's Get-Together Dinner to be given by the Rush County Farmers' Association for the business men of the county.

The dinner given last March by the business men for the farmers of the county was one of the most enjoyable occasions that I have attended in the state. This was a demonstration on the part of the business men that they were interested in the farmers and that they wished to work out, together, the common problems. The return dinner for the business men is a concrete demonstration of the appreciation of Rush County farmers for the many courtesies extended by the business men.

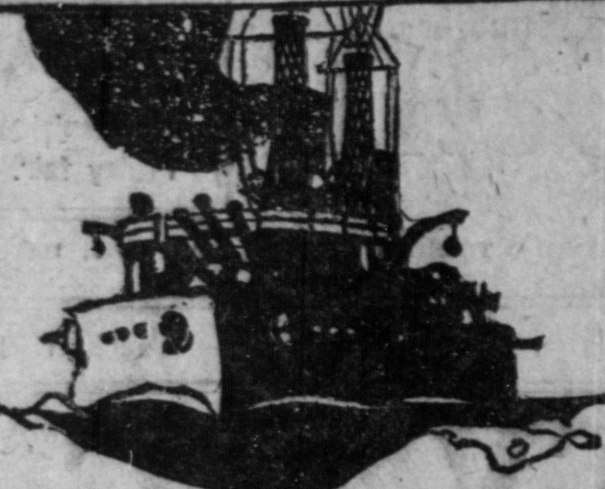

The agriculture of Rush County, of Indiana and of other states, depends upon the active, sympathetic, helpful co-operation of all the people. Agriculture is more than just the tilling of the soil and the feeding of live stock. This work may be profitable and yet, unless the farmers are happy and contented the largest development will not be secured. A satisfying country life depends upon good roads, good schools, good churches, and above all, upon a community made up of men and women who are interested in progress along all lines and who are willing to work together for the enrichment of each other's lives and for the building up of the homes and the community. When any class organizes for selfish purposes and assumes the attitude that all other interests are against them; that the aim and object of their work should be to fight the other fellow, the first steps have been taken to break down community relationships and to make enemies instead of friends. On the other hand, when people organize

Revere Name of Singer in
Modjeska's Home Town

(By United Press)

Posan, Poland (By Mail)—No Polish name during the past quarter century was better known, either in Poland or America, than that of Modjeska, the famous Shakesperian actress, who was exiled by Russia from her native land because of her too ardent patriotism, but who continued to fight for Poland in her own way during her long artistic career in the United States.

Although she died before Poland's independence was finally won, Modjeska never gave up hope that her country would be free. And today though she is no longer in the fight her family here in Poland are foremost among the leaders who are carrying on the work of rebuilding their country after five years of devastating war.

The day the first American Red Cross relief train entered Poland, it was met by a group of children, led by a young lady, all carrying armfuls of flowers "because there was nothing else left to offer the Americans." The girl was Modjeska's niece, and the children some of the war orphans she had already begun to care for.

In Posen the family of Chlapowski (Modjeska's real name having been the countess Chlapowski) is at present devoting itself entirely to the care of refugee war orphans, hundreds of whom, gathered up by the American Red Cross in all parts of the country, are sent to Posen to be placed in homes and institutions. Recently a large new refuge for these unfortunate children, many of whom lost all trace of their people in their wanderings across half of Russia, has been opened by two nieces of Modjeska.

At the beautiful country estate of the Chlapowskis near Posen, where Modjeska in the days before her exile used to rest and rehearse her famous roles of "Juliet" and "Mary, Queen of Scots", hundreds of refugee children, clothed in American Red Cross clothing, even to pinafores and shoes, will enjoy fresh air and outdoor delights this summer.

Wallace Reid Again Today

Handsome Wallace Reid lying in bed, a towel around his head and a pretty nurse and two doctors in attendance. This is the sight that would have met your eye, had you visited the Lasky studios recently. An you might have wondered if Wallace had paid the price at last for the reckless daring that he displays in those automobile racing pictures of his.

But you would quickly have learned a different story. Mr. Reid was just making scenes for his new picture, "Sick Abed" which will be at the Princess again today. Not that the picture's one of these depressing dramas, with half the cast dying off before the third reel.

On the contrary, "Sick Abed," is one of the liveliest Reid pictures ever screened. Wallie isn't ill a moment, not even for film purposes. He's just shamming, according to the story, in order not to incriminate a friend of his in a divorce suit. And the pretty nurse by his bedside is none other than Bebe Daniels, the dusky beauty of "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?" "Sick Abed" will make real invalids forget their pains and cause well folks to roar with mirth.

CHRONIC DAYLIGHT
GOOD FOR ATHLETES

Finland Has Natural Daylight Saving and Develops Many Winners in Olympic

LIGHT FROM 1 A. M. TO 11 P. M.

By L. R. BLANCHARD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Sept. 15.—If the United States congress regards sports at all seriously, it will hearken to a recommendation from Finland.

Finland has natural daylight saving. As a result the Finns with an almost insignificant population to draw from, romped away with second honors in the track and field events of the Olympics this year.

E. W. Broman, a Chicago Finn, on learning that his countrymen had taken 105 points in the Olympics against the 92 of the English and 35 of the French said:

"Finland is a land of athletes. Boys and girls from infancy delight in outdoor sports because of the long days. It is daylight from 2 in the morning until 11 at night.

"When I was a boy I never got to bed until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. I was having too good a time playing outdoors.

"Most of the best athletes come from the cities because the universities are located there. Students are obliged to take part in daily calisthenics, a relic of the days when Finland was Swedish. The Finns have hundreds of athletic clubs and enjoy wonderful health and vitality because of the long hours of exercise in sunlight hours.

CUT MEAT COSTS BY

Family Table Supplied With Excellent Cheap Food.

Department of Agriculture Recently Issued Bulletin on Rabbit Raising —Care and Feeding Is Fully Explained.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One resident of Kansas City, Kan., raises every year 300 to 400 pounds of rabbit meat for his own table. It costs him only 8 to 10 cents a pound. There are an increasing number of people in this country who, to a greater or lesser degree, are cutting the high cost of living in the same way. Besides furnishing the home table with plenty of cheap meat, the rabbit grower can make money by marketing the surplus animals.

than $1,200. An Ohio farmer sends 400 pounds of rabbit meat a week to city restaurants, yet is unable to meet the demand.

Rabbit raising, either to supply the home table or the market, is steadily increasing in the United States. In the older countries rabbits have long been a valued source of cheap meat. The bureau of biological survey, United States department of agriculture, has recently issued a bulletin on rabbit raising in which the various breeds and their care and feeding are discussed. Recipes for the use of rabbit meat are also given. This Farmers' Bulletin, No. 1090, may be had free from the division of publications.

GOOD WHITEWASH FOR BARNS

Not Difficult to Apply Where Liquid Is Carefully Made—Government Recipe Given.

Whitewashing should form a regular part of the care of all buildings where animals are kept and should be done twice a year at least. If whitewash is carefully made and strained, and applied with a spray, it is not a difficult job, and is a necessary, sanitary measure. This recipe has been published by the government:

Slake half a bushel of unslaked lime with boiling water, covering it during the process to keep in the steam. Strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer. Add to it a peck of salt previously dissolved in warm water, three pints of ground rice boiled to a thin paste. Stir in these ingredients while the liquid is hot. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir well and let stand for a few days, covered as nearly air-tight as possible.

CONSORTIUM ONLY
HOPE FOR CHINA

Anfuites Whose Policies Disrupted Chinese Parliament Are Out—Chihilities Are In

CONDITION IS PROBLEMATIC

Without a Constitution or Parliament Vast Country Presents Spectacle as Sad as That of Mexico

By CHARLES EDWARD HOGUE
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Peking, Aug. 10. (By Mail).—Another of China's innumerable civil wars has come to a close and today the most optimistic of the nation's well wishers profess to see a possibility that the new Four-Power Consortium will be able to bring order out of chaos in this stricken country.

The Anfuites, whose militaristic policies disrupted parliament and emptied the nation's treasury, are out.

The Chihilities are in.

Whether the change in administration will mean any betterment of conditions is problematical. On one thing, however, everyone seems agreed; the consortium is China's real hope. If the business men and financiers of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan see fit to finance the republic, direct the expenditure of the funds they advance for that purpose and stamp out militarism at the capital there is a good chance that it will be only a short time before China will have a government that is functioning normally.

Today the nation is as a ship without a rudder. Without a constitution, a parliament, or any genuine cohesion between the various provinces this vast country presents a spectacle almost as sad as that of Mexico. But with the overthrow of the Anfuites some hope is seen that the Chihili cabinet can be held in check and a repetition of former abuses prevented.

General Tsao Kun, tuchun (military governor) of Chihili province, and his chief lieutenant, General Wu Pie-fu, one of China's ablest military men, believed the time was ripe for the overthrow of the Anfuites. They marched on Peking, sweeping aside the Anfuites outposts and preparing to besiege the city.

But a seige was unnecessary, Gen. Chang Tso-lin, chief of the Mukden faction, a third party which had heretofore remained neutral, took the field and marched on Peking ostensibly to safeguard the person of the president. But he let it be known that his sympathies were with the Chihilities. Whereupon the Anfuites abdicated.

While the storms of war have been swirling about his head, President Hsu, who cannot be called a strong character, has been compelled to sit helplessly by. He will retain his chair as president while an effort is made to unite the various factions in a constitutional convention in Shanghai. As soon as a constitution can be agreed upon and adopted elections will be called and a new parliament formed.

In the meantime the secessionists at Canton have become so thoroughly embroiled among themselves that it is believed likely they will welcome an opportunity for compromise and participation in a general reorganization of the government.

For that matter you could classify them by a dozen different names for fashion had the forethought to distinguish one from the other by variety in the material and trimming effects.

Government Ownership

Opposition to government ownership is growing in the United States, judging from the returns from a questionnaire sent to the newspaper.

ers of the country by a press association. It shows that 86 percent of the 5,154 editors replying to the queries believe that the people of their communities do not believe the government should go in business against its citizens. A similar canvass was conducted in 1919 and 83 percent of editors then expressed opposition to government ownership.

Apparently, then, if editors estimate public opinion accurately, that opinion in a year, considered by communities, has swung 3 percent farther away from socialistic experiments.

The combined circulation of the papers whose editors replied is 11,428,817, which means, according to the usual estimated ratio between circulation and readers, a constituency of at least 44,000,000. And this constituency is pretty evenly scattered throughout the country, no considerable section of any state being unrepresented. The estimate of opinion based on this thoroughly diffused 44 percent of the country's population may, therefore, be considered a fair representation of the people as a whole.

Another feature of the result is its evident lack of partisan bias. The major political affiliations of the papers represented are fairly evenly divided, being 1,857 Republican and 1,350 Democratic. There are also 1,485 independent and 462 miscellaneous, including labor organs, etc.

How little the results are affected by the politics of the papers is shown in an analysis by sections. In the Southern section, for instance, where replies came from 65 Republican papers and 389 Democratic, the percentage against Government operation was 88; in the Great Lakes section, with conditions reversed, 478 Republican and 155 Democratic, the opposition was 87 percent.

Replies from the West, Middle West and Southwest show that it is a mistake to consider those sections vastly more favorable to radical Government experiments than the East. The radicals can get little comfort out of the 89 percent of thumbs down—2 percent above the average—in the Southwest, including Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Texas, once supposed to be much given to Government regulation experiments, returned 92 percent of unfavorable replies. Out of the 244 editors replying from that state only three edited Republican papers. The 82 percent opposition of the Northwest, including Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming, and the 83 percent veto of the Far West group, including Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado, Utah and Washington, are significant of the prevailing conservative sentiment on this question even in the more radical sections.

The questionnaire closes with a request for the editor's personal opinion on certain concrete cases as follows:

"Do you personally believe that the Federal Government should own and operate competitive industries to provide: (a) Fertilizer? (b) Clothing? (c) Automobiles? (d) Farm implements? (e) Foodstuffs?"

Substantially all the editors who gave estimates of their readers' opinions also expressed their own by replying to this last question. Proof of considerable effort to avoid personal bias is found in the fact that in many cases the editor differed from the opinion he credited to his community. The percentage of "nos" ran: (a) 76; (b) 83; (c) 82; (e) 79.

While the questions were based on general principles involved in the Government participating in competitive business, the so-called Muscle Shoals Bill now before Congress was used as a concrete example of a Government operation scheme. Under this bill a Government-owned corporation would be given broad powers to operate and develop Government plants and properties. It would produce at Muscle Shoals various fertilizer products and sell them in competition with producers and merchants in the fertilizer business.

The strength of the opposition to Government operation is indicated by the replies from Alabama, where the Muscle Shoals war plant is and where, of course, there is intense interest and local pride in getting its expected peace-time operation under way at the earliest possible date. Fifty editors from that state replied, of whom 38 were opposed to Government operation, 8 in favor and 4 doubtful.

The Indianapolis News has discovered that the people of Maine did not take the league of nations into consideration when they rolled up a majority of 60,000 for the republicans. This removes a question about Urges them to profit by his experience. Says he was nervous, restless at night; very bilious with spots dancing before his eyes. Had little boils all over his body, but Dreco has wiped away all of these troubles.

"I wish every good citizen of Indiana could profit by my experience with the greatest medicine I ever took which is Dreco," said Mr. Oscar Campbell, the widely known merchant and farmer of Wheeling, Delaware Co., Ind.

"I used to have spots dancing before my eyes; dizzy spells; was so nervous I couldn't sleep sound and my blood was not in good condition, for small boils would break out all over my body. My entire system was weak and rundown when I started taking Dreco, but that medicine seemed to go right to the bottom of my troubles and wipe them out."

"I've taken two bottles of Dreco and my nerves are steady as a clock. I sleep sound every night; haven't had a dizzy spell now in weeks and the spots have disappeared before my eyes. Dreco has cleansed my blood for the boils are all gone and my skin is as smooth as a baby's. I feel great and give all the praise to Dreco."

All druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Rushville by F. B. Johnson and Co. Adv.

which there has been much doubt and over which many a heated argument has occurred. The News deserves some credit for it.

Someone suggests that since Gov. Cox seems to have no limit for the republican campaign fund, he might include all the currency in the United States, seven or eight billion dollars, and have an end of it.

Henry Should Teach
Fords How to Swim

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 17.—Frank Gibson and family, who reside at the corner of Eleventh street and Lafayette avenue, this city, have just returned from a vacation. And not only have the past two weeks been a vacation for Mr. Gibson, who is employed at the White Star meat market, but have also proved a period of vacation, for while in Forrest City, Arkansas, Mr. Gibson, who had made the trip south in his Ford, was forced to sell his machine and make the return trip by rail.

The party started on the tour about two weeks ago and after visiting Mammoth Cave in Kentucky, and places of interest in Tennessee, the trip to Arkansas was made. According to Mr. Gibson, as soon as he arrived in Forrest City it started to rain and continued to rain for several days, sometimes as much as three inches of rainfall in one night. When it finally ceased its downpour Mr. Gibson started home, but all the roads out of the city, which is in the Mississippi bottom, were flooded and even a Ford could not make its way. Consequently in order to arrive in this city in time for work Mr. Gibson was forced to sell his Ford at quite a sacrifice.

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Myers entertained at dinner Sunday the following guests: the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Crawley and son Lowell of Metamora, Miss Alice Stanley, Mrs. Lorena Lee and daughter Alta and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Newhouse and family.

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Sexton of Shelbyville had as their dinner guests Wednesday evening, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Sexton, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sexton, Dr. and Mrs. Cullen Sexton of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Green of Ft. Smith, Ark., who are visiting here.

While Mr. and Mrs. Orval Stewart of near Occident, with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newson, were attending the state fair on Wednesday of last week, Miss Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and Kenneth Herkless, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Herkless of Center, went to Newport, Ky., where they were married. The young couple will reside near Carthage. The bride was a student in the Carthage schools last year.

The all day meeting of the Sexton Missionary Society held Tuesday, proved to be one of the greatest days in the history of that organization. At the morning session a very appropriate program was given between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. M. Pratt, the society's president. At noon a delicious pitch-in dinner was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Mrs. Carl Beer, Mrs. Martha Grindle, Mrs. D.

H. Dean, Mrs. Jesse Winkler and son, all of Rushville; Mrs. J. B. Pearcey of Irvington; Mrs. John Wright and children of south of the city; Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Roll Rodgers, of near Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Siler, Mr. and Mrs. George Kendall, Mrs. Carrol Clifton and children, Mrs. Ode Winkler, Mrs. Howard Steele, Mrs. Vester Casey, Mrs. Richard Gardner, Mrs. Fred Maple and child, Mrs. Harry Land, Mrs. Earl Grubbs, Mrs. Charles Warlick and children and Mrs. Elsworth Kiser.

In the afternoon the guests went to the church in Sexton where an entertainment was given for the societies of the county. At the opening of the service Mrs. Pratt read the scripture lesson; Mrs. Elsworth Kiser offered prayer; Mrs. Cal Beher of Rushville sang, accompanied by Mrs. Dean on the piano. Mrs. J. B. Pearcey of Irvington gave a talk and Mrs. Robert Kennedy and Mrs. Grindle of this city, also gave brief addresses.

The following societies were represented at the meeting: Rushville, Manilla, Plum Creek, Fairview, Little Flat Rock and Ben Davis.

One of the most beautiful social events of the season at Orange was the marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth McKee to Edgar M. Starr of Connersville, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ida McKee, Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Preceding the wedding ceremony Sidney Colescott of Kokomo rendered a program of vocal selections, and was accompanied on the piano by Miss Marie Whelan of Connersville. At the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal couple entered the living room and the ring ceremony was performed before an altar of ferns and fall flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. F. Schronitz, pastor of the Orange Christian church, during which Wilbur McKee, accompanied by Miss Whelan, rendered Traumeri on the violin.

The bride was dressed in white georgette crepe over white satin and wore a wedding veil caught in cap effect, with orange blossoms. She was unattended.

Following the wedding light refreshments were served. Only the immediate families and friends of the bridal couple were present. Mr. and Mrs. Starr left immediately after the serving of refreshments for Chicago, Ill., where they will spend a few days, after which they will return to Orange before departing for their new home in Pittsburg, Pa. The bride's going away gown was a brown tailored suit with accessories to match.

The bride is one of the popular young ladies of that community and the bridegroom is well known in Connersville, but for the last two years has been employed in Pittsburg, Pa., as instructor in mathematics in the Carnegie Technical Institute.

Mrs. Norman Crum and Mrs. Dick Smith were hostesses to the members of the Yomo club yesterday afternoon at the home of the former in West Seventh street. This meeting was much enjoyed with needlework. During the business session action was taken to form new plans for the coming year. Later in the afternoon a one course luncheon was served. The next meeting will be guest day and will be held at the home of Mrs. Amos Baxter, Sept. 30.

New Fall Hats Are Colorful

By "MARJORIE"

(Written for United Press)

New York, Sept. 17.—Although fall chapeaux have been "among those present" in the fashion world since early summer, it is the latest in-season models that are really dazzling the eyes of the populace with their bizarre, and almost weird effects. Nothing gorgeous and eccentric is out of place upon a fall feminine "lid." Hats that would feel very much "to home" upon the coifs of a Chinese coolie woman, an Algerian coffee house girl, a modern peasant are rakishly askew the marcelled waves of Milady of Gotham.

A prevalent mode is the transparent crowned turban of metallic lace or chiffon, copiously embroidered in "serpent of the Nile," or an Alsatian colored or iridescent beads. The narrow brim is generally swathed in a frayed Oriental silk, or twisted strands of wools or chenille. Color schemes are an incoherent blaze of rust and emerald cochin an areo, or something equally contrasting.

A Nell Gwynne fashion period effect is given by hats which dangle at each side long, heavy plumes of various colors. The hat proper is cavalier shape, and generally of black or taupe velvet. But even of sombre color, the sweeping plume effect is too daring for many women and only a few are seen at the Ritz teas and hotel dances. Many hats harp back to period tendencies as the quaint Watteau poke bonnet with chin ribbons, or the Aslutan bonnet with huge bow of suede or moire ribbon at the side-rear.

Another innovation is the use of stiff horsehair for trimming, rather than for the body of the hat as was formerly the case. One model made of crushed copper velvet is topped with little snail-like motifs wound from black horse-hair. Coarse, straight feather are in the majority such as glycerined ostrich, gay quills, or cockades. Little pompoms made of hempen rope and in a bunch of several garish hues, often flank the very front of a hat, or coyly dip over the forehead.

Dingle-dangles such as long earrings of jet, jade, or wooden beads still abound, especially upon the darker and more conservative hats, and tassels of silks tickle the earbuds also. Duvelyn promises to be an all-winter fabric, although it is now dividing honors with the old standby velvet. The latter fabric emphasizes bead and silk trimmings, while the former specializes in wool embroideries or ribbon.

Evening hats of metallic laces or rich ribbons are favorites. The Paisley shawl pattern abounds in these ribbon hats, and brocades in rich tints of royal purple, deep rose, or emerald also abound. These confections of hat loveliness are very wide and droopy and are the only evidence that floral trimmings will be used.

Eiffel supplied $700,000 and the French government $300,000 for building the Eiffel tower.

Ancient Remedy for Toothache.
The most popular remedy for toothache in ancient Egypt seems to have been a mixture of crushed henbane seeds with cement used as a filling. Coarse plumbago, palm fruit and honey was recommended for tightening the teeth and various forms of plaster were used. The cause of decay in those days was generally attributed, especially by the Chinese, to a little white worm which ate its way into the teeth and gums, and many and various are the ancient recipes for destroying this worm.

ond vice-president, were expected to come this afternoon to get a glimpse of the crowd.

Fred Bell, president of the Rush county association, was the happiest fellow on the grounds. He has worked untiringly and with his utmost energy—which is a lot—to put the county picnic over in great style, and no one doubts that he did not do it well. He got some very capable assistance from Donald Ball, county agent, Howard Ewbank, secretary of the county association, the township officers and a number of Rushville business men who served on committees and helped arrange the details for the function.

It was due to Fred Bell's devotion to the thing and his continual and never-ending insistence that the picnic not fail, together with the help of very energetic and faithful assistants, that resulted in the great measure of success realized today. "If it stopped right here," said Mr. Bell at noon, "I would be satisfied with the results. I knew it would be big, but I never in the greatest flight of my imagination thought it would go as big as this. The way people have responded to appeals for help to make this the biggest undertaking of its kind in the United States, repays me for all the effort I have made."

CORN SHOW PLANS ANNOUNCED TODAY

would be a total of sixty-eight prizes amounting in all to $710.

The definite announcement that the county corn show will be held was made today at the community picnic at the city park, and the prizes were announced.

The business men of Rushville have raised the money for the show and committees are already to work co-operating with Donald D. Ball, county agent, in making plans for it.

Four of the twelve township farmers association have voted to hold township shows in connection with the county show, each offering $25 in prizes, and there is every reason to believe that the remainder of the township associations will follow suit between now and time for the show.

There were will be two silver cups, which will be purchased at a cost of approximately $50 each, to be offered as grand prizes for sweepstakes in the classes for ten ears and a single ear, any color.

The cups will be competed for each year in successive corn shows. The rules of the show will provide for the winners to have their names engraved on the cups each time they win them, with the provision that any farmer winning the same cup three successive times becomes the sole owner of it.

The announcement today puts the proposed Rush county corn show on an equal with any corn show in the United States because the prizes offered total more than those offered at the state show and are said to be on an equal with the national show.

The definite date for the show will be made public later. It will probably take place the first week in January, or one week before the Indiana corn show.

PARIS WILL FIGHT 8 MILLION RODENTS

City is Said to Contain a Big Population of Rats Which Threaten to Spread Disease

ONE SUGGESTION IS OFFERED

By HENRY WOOD

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Sept. 1 (By Mail)—Poor Paris is particularly unlucky this summer.

She had counted absolutely on a veritable invasion of rich Americans who would spend enough of their good hard dollars in France to cause the rate of exchange to readjust.

As a matter of fact, owing to the lack of steamships, only a very limited number of Americans has come.

And now in place of this very desirable invasion, Paris finds herself invaded with rats. Health specialists and newspapermen who have been peeping into the subject place the number of rats now in Paris at about 8,000,000.

As a matter of fact the rats have all been here for some time past, but no one thought about them until a few cases of pest were discovered about the city. While it was quickly established that these cases were purely sporadic and were easily isolated, it was pointed out, if Paris 8,000,000 rats should suddenly take it into their heads to see what they could do in the matter of propagating the pest or some other disease, they might make considerable headway before the Paris health authorities, in a counter offensive, could pull off another battle of the Marne.

As a result of the necessity of putting the rats out of business, Paris is developing a number of health strategists whose plans are as hardy and as promising as were those of Joffre himself at the Marne.

One of these strategists, Professor Bordas says it is as easy as pie. He says he can starve out the whole 8,000,000 in a week. His campaign of action is as follows:

"Up to the present time we have never engaged a serious battle in France against the rats. From time to time we have let loose an occasional offensive but never with any spirit of continuity and never with any appreciable gains. It is now highly important that we take a well-defined plan of defense.

"Now the quickest and best way of getting rid of the rats is not to devise ways and means to kill them, but to devise ways and means to keep them from eating, and the only way to do this is to change the present municipal service in such a manner that the garbage cans which are set out on the sidewalk by each family be collected and emptied a night instead of in the morning.

"Resting, as these garbage cans do, on the sidewalk all night, the rats have both the advantage of time and darkness, and of the absence of people on the street, in which to eat their fill therefrom. I these garbage cans were collected and emptied instead, Paris would be free of rats within a week. They would die of starvation."

While Professor Bordas' Fochsonian offensive against the rats is under consideration the city council has decided to grant the public health department sufficient fund in which to undertake, should it be so decided, some more expensive manner of turning the trick.

Woman Thinks She Is Privileged To Talk

"If anyone ever had a miserable stomach I surely had. It was growing worse, too all the time. Ha severe pains and attacks every two days or two weeks and had to call a doctor, who could only relieve me for a short while. Two years ago last February I took a treatment of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and have not had a spell of pain or misery since. My friends just wonder that I am looking so well. I feel I am privileged to talk about it." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhisms from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At drugists everywhere.—(Adv.)

Americans Who Formerly Had Big Rolls and Were Flushed Change Views in London

CONTINENTALS ARE RICH

London. (By Mail).—Americans in London, who used to enjoy a reputation for always putting their hands "into their pockets" are now accused of "keeping their hands on their pockets."

This endears them, rather than otherwise, to the hearts of the hard-up Londoners, who for years have held that "a fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."

But the storekeepers have other views. A salesman in the Burlington Arcade, deploring the absence of that fat roll of notes he had always associated with American purchasers, said:

"Americans have no money this season. They hardly do anything but ask the price of things. It is the Continentals who have the money. We have sold more to French and Spanish visitors in the last month than to Americans in the whole season. The Continentals are full of money." Therefore the Continentals reap the salesman's smiles.

Now that the Englishman knows the American as a "pricer" it adds to the bond of friendship, for "pricing the goods" is about as far as the average Englishman's purchases ever get.

OLD MAUD FROM MISSOURI
STILL ON ARMY PAYROLL

San Antonio Texas, Sept. 17—The army mule is staging a comeback.

Drastic steps are being taken in the Southern Department of the U. S. Army, headquarters at San Antonio, for the restoration of the old methods of transportation used before the war emergency, according to Col. A. E. Saxton, adjutant. Cutting down expenses and inability to get parts for some of the automobiles at the camp are given as the reasons for the revival of the mule.

Colonel Saxton is expecting the horse and mule drawn wagons to be used for routine work while leaving the motor drawn vehicles for quick transportation.

NON-RESIDENTS MUST PAY THE STATE PRICE

Hunters Who Flock Here Are Required to Pay $15.50 a Year License—Local is $1.00

WARDENS TO WATCH VIOLATOR

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17—Officials of the state department of conservation are inclined to believe that some hunters residing in other states are coming into Indiana and procuring resident hunting licenses to pursue the sport thus defrauding Indiana out of considerable money due thru the sale of non-resident licenses.

A resident license in Indiana costs $1, George N. Mannfeld, superintendent of the division of fish and game points out, and a non-resident license costs $15.50. Despite the fact that wardens have been diligent, it is possible for a man living in another state to come to Indiana, represent to the county clerk that he is a Hoosier resident and procure a $1 resident license when in fact he should pay $15.50 for the privilege of hunting with a non-resident license. Only 60 non-resident hunting licenses were sold in Indiana during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, and department officials are convinced many more hunters than this came from other states into Indiana in pursuit of game. To block any subterfuge which might be attempted relative to purchasing licenses this season, wardens have been organized particularly to watch this phase and will in case of doubt, compel a hunter under suspicion to establish his place of residence.

FOOTBALL HAS A FEW CHANGES

Several Slight Changes Are Made Which Adds Fairness and Cleanliness to the Sport

"CLIPPING" IS FORBIDDEN

Rules Call Diving Tackles From the Rear to Players Out of Play, is Roughness

By HEZE CLARK
(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17—With more than one hundred high school and college teams in Indiana starting training for football the followers of the gridiron sport are investigating to learn what changes have been made in the rules for the 1920 season.

Members of the rules committee have made few changes but those few will make the game more popular with both the players and the spectators. The changes are set out on pages four and five of the rule book.

The members of the football rules committee have changed the wording of certain rules which go to show that the interpretation placed on those rules last year by leading officials was correct. For example officials in many games ruled that the act of "clipping" a player who was obviously out of the play was unnecessary roughness. Some coaches objected to this ruling last season but this year there is no question that act is unnecessary roughness.

This change, if it could be called a change in the rules, is without a question one of the most important and best things that has ever happened the game of football. The writer has followed the gridiron sport for more than 25 years and feels free to state no type of rough play has caused more serious injuries than the "clipping" players who are obviously out of the play.

By "clipping" football men the diving at the opponents legs from behind striking the legs if possible below the knee with the body. This act when a man is running from the "clipper" while severe seldom results in injury as the body leans forward in running and the player "clipped" falls forward, but when a player is standing still or walking or trotting slowly across the field as a man generally does when out of play he is thrown backwards or side ways in such a way that severe pains are often the result.

Fairness has been the watch word of the rules committee at all times and that committee put more fairness into the rules when the punt-out was abolished. In years past if a team made a touch down near the corner of the field that team was forced to punt out from the location of the touchdown and take a chance on the ball being caught before having a chance to try for the one point gained by kicking the goal. This play won and lost many games.

Fairness again enters into the interpretation put on certain rules by the committee in changing the wording which makes more clear to officials of the state department of should be enforced.

Summed up in a few words the changes in the football rules will make the gridiron sport fairer, cleaner, less dangerous and faster.

DAIRYMEN DO MUCH TO INCREASE MILK SUPPLY

Members of "300 Pound Cow Club", Dairyman Must Have 10 Cows Producing 300 Lb Butter Fat

7 WERE ELIGIBLE THIS YEAR

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 16—Leading dairymen through the breeding of high producing animals are doing much to increase milk and butter production per cow in the state, it was stated today by R. D. Canan, of the dairy extension staff of Purdue University in announcing the members for this year in the "300 Pound Cow Club". To acquire such membership, a dairyman must have ten or more cows which have produced 300 pounds or more of butterfat during the year.

The seven dairymen eligible to the club this year are: J. S. Pattie and J. E. Edwards Warrick county; Herbert Grimwood, Vanderburgh county; E. P. Wilson, Ellis Frye and M. C. Johnson, Orange county; and William H. Senour, Franklin county. Mr. Grimwood's cows were high with an average production of 407.8 pounds of butterfat per cow. His average return was 2.40 for every dollar spent for feed.

"Unless a man has good, high producing dairy cows, he cannot get enough for his labor of caring for them, to really pay", said Mr. Canan, "If at present prices received by the producer for milk, he must have a very efficient machine in the form of the dairy cow to convert feed into milk and butterfat to really make any profit. Indiana dairymen are turning rapidly to better stock."

INDIANA FARMER HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

Was so Weak he Could Hardly Walk Before Taking Tanlac—Is Now Strong and Well.

"I have not only gotten rid of all the after effects of influenza, but have actually gained twenty-five pounds since taking Tanlac," said Edward Kaluss, a well-known farmer of West Heights, R. F. D. Evansville, Ind.

"Six months ago I had a bad case of influenza that left my stomach so disordered that I could hardly eat anything; and a cough that worried me day and night. What little food I did eat formed gas, that pressed around my heart so I could hardly breathe. Sometimes I was deathly sick at my stomach and had such sharp pains that I could hardly stand. Finally my liver got out of order, I was badly constipated and had awful headaches.

"My kidneys were in bad shape and my back hurt like it was going to break and every bone in my body

seemed to ache. Finally I got down in bed again and stayed there for six weeks. When I got up I was so weak it was all I could do to drag one foot after the other, and my nerves were shattered and it looked like I was just about played out.

"I got Tanlac on the advice of a friend and was rapidly improving before I finished the first bottle. I have taken three bottles now and am a well man. My appetite is so keen I can hardly get enough to eat, and everything agrees with me perfectly. My kidneys have quit worrying me and my nerves have quieted down so I sleep like a rock at night. I am not troubled with gas or shortness of breath, haven't an ache or pain of any kind, and have never felt better in my life."

Tanlac is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson Co., in Milroy by Dallas Copper, in Manilla by Geo. J. Inlow, in Arlington by Mrs. L. T. Davis, in Carthage by Otto C. McGarty, and in New Salem by Mrs. Jos. Hankins, R. R. 2—Adv.

IMMENSE THROG CROWDS CITY PARK AT GET-TOGETHER PARTY

Story About 3,000 Chickens Being Slain Proves No Myth And There Is Enough To Go Around, With a Lot to Spare, Proving That Farmers' Wives Never Do Things by Halves.

Coliseum Filled With People This Afternoon to Hear Address by John N. Dyer.

AN ENTERTAINMENT ALSO

Automobiles Fill All Available Space and Are Parked For Blocks Leading to Park.

How well the members of the Rush County Farmers' association, very ably assisted by their wives, entertained at the county picnic at the city park today, can best be determined by the testimony of some twelve thousand people who enjoyed the feast.

The park was literally clogged and jammed with people and automobiles. Every bit of parking space in the park was used up and for blocks on all the streets leading to the park automobiles were lined.

Officials of the farmers' association estimated there were twenty-five hundred automobiles, which alone would account for ten thousand people, and some were of the opinion that twelve thousand was too conservative an estimate of the crowd.

The story about three thousand chickens being slain was no myth. The farmers' wives of the county never do anything by halves and today proved no exception. They brought so many chickens that even the multitudes got enough.

And salads, sweet potatoes, pies, cakes, cottage cheese, pickles, tomatoes, beet pickles, honey, fresh fruit, several kinds of meat in addition to chicken—there seemed to be no end of it. Folks who didn't get enough to eat at one tent visited another, and so on down the line until they had run the gamut of twelve township serving committees.

The immense throng of people was jolly and good-natured. Neighbors and friends visited with each other and many who had been passing on the streets of Rushville for years without knowing one another, became acquainted before the day was over.

Four large tents belonging to auctioneers of the county provided the tents under which the food was served, three townships to the tent. The tents were erected in a line running north and south, just west of the coliseum.

In the first tent could be found the women's committees of Anderson, Rushville and Noble townships, surrounded by heaps and heaps of food, most tempting looking, but not even so tempting looking as it was really good. In the second tent were the committees from Jackson, Posey and Richland, ready to feed the hungry crowd. In the third tent were the Ripley, Walker and Center committees and in the last were those representing Union, Washington and Orange townships.

Everything that by any stretch of the imagination could be utilized for a table was used by the people while eating dinner. Fenders of automobiles served as ideal places for resting a tin cup full of coffee between bites. The running boards of automobiles were very convenient for the weary folks who could not enjoy such a feast standing up. They scattered to the far corners of the city park; these hungry thousands who came for something to eat—and how they got it.

This afternoon, about two o'clock, the afternoon program began in the

The Rushville school children were turned loose on the odds of food which was left after everyone had been served at the county picnic this afternoon. Supt. J. H. Scholl, who was at the park, was consulted, and readily consented to excuse the children so that they could have a treat. He telephoned all the buildings, notifying the teachers of the arrangement. Children of school age were not guests because it was thought all of the children of the county could not have been accommodated.

coliseum. John Napier Dyer of Vincennes, who is the originator in Indiana of the farmers and merchants get together dinner and picnics, made the principal address. Judge Sparks announced the county corn show which will be held here in a few months and which is described in another place in this issue of the paper. The letter from George I. Christie, director of the extension department of Purdue university, expressing his regret at being unable to attend the county picnic, was also read to the crowd which filled every bit of available space in the coliseum.

There was also to be entertainment by the Hoosier Harmony Trio, three male singers from Indianapolis, and by a magician, also of Indianapolis.

Visitors were here from many points in Indiana, among them L. M. Sefton, president of the Decatur County Farmers' association, who came over to Rush county to see how such a thing is pulled off.

John G. Brown, president of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' associations, and Lewis F. Taylor, secretary, were unable to attend the picnic on account of a previous engagement, but Everett McClure of Aurora, first vice-president, and Maurice Douglas of Flatrock, second vice-president, were present.

DISAGREES AFTER ALL-DAY SESSION

Circuit Court Jury Unable to Reach Agreement in Case of Stout Vs. Brown.

TEN FOR THE DEFENDANT

The jury in the case of Will Y. Stout against Oliver N. Brown, failed to reach an agreement late yesterday afternoon, after deliberating all day, and shortly before five o'clock returned to the court room, being unable to render a verdict for the plaintiff or defendant.

The case was filed by Stout, who alleged that he had been damaged on account of a breach of contract, and sought $296 judgment. Witnesses were examined and the arguments were given in the case on Wednesday, and the first thing yesterday morning, the case was sent to the jury for deliberation.

It was understood yesterday following their failure to reach an agreement, that the jury voted 10 to 2 on every ballot, in favor of the defendant, but the other two failed to change their decision.

Magnifying Device Used To Entertain

"Is Donald Ball on the ground?" came a voice to the ears of Mr. Ball, the county agent, while he was standing near the entrance to the city park today.

He looked all around but saw no one who looked like they might have wanted him. He asked several people, but they denied calling him.

It was some time afterwards that Mr. Ball learned that Walter Hubbard, speaking into the Magnavox, a sound magnifying device on a Sonora phonograph, several hundred feet away, had uttered the words.

The device was attached to a Sonora, sitting in a truck at the north end of the park, and was used to entertain the crowds during the day. It was also utilized to make announcements as the Magnavox magnified the sound of the voice so that it carried several times the distance it would ordinarily travel. A recruiting officer for the United States army sang several solos with the use of the device.

In addition to this, it is probable that every township farmers association in the county—twelve in number—will offer a special prize of $25 in township corn shows on the same day, in which event there Continued on Page Six

John N. Dyer of Vincennes, the "daddy" of the get-together meetings of farmers and business men in Indiana, who spoke at the county picnic this afternoon, said he found nothing in his vocabulary to express the surprise he felt at his first sight of the city park shortly after his arrival in Rushville at 11:34 o'clock this morning.

"The first meeting of this character was held in Vincennes about six years ago," said Mr. Dyer. "Since that time I have attended some fifteen or sixteen of them, but never yet have I seen anything to compare with this. It is absolutely beyond all comparison. I can see by this demonstration that there is a wonderful spirit of co-operation between the country folk and the townspeople. It is something which can not be overworked and I congratulate the people of Rush county on this marvelous expression of community spirit today."

Mr. Dyer remained in Rushville for the evening and will address a meeting of the Rotary club at 6:30 at the Social club, at which officers of the farmers' association and some visitors will be guests. Mr. Dyer recently retired as first vice-president of the International Association of Rotary Clubs.

Community Picnic Attracts State Wide Attention and Brings Writers to Rushville

EDITOR OF FARM LIFE TALKS

George Weymouth of Spencer, Indiana, editor of Farm Life, a monthly farm publication, was one of the Rushville visitors today who came to see what Rush county has accomplished in the way of community development.

"I am especially interested in seeing how this experiment comes out," said Mr. Weymouth, "because there is considerable interest centered on this question right now. This meeting looks like a long step towards developing community spirit and I was very anxious to be here today and see how it is done."

Mr. Weymouth came to gather some facts and get some data on the meeting for an article to be published in the November number of the magazine.

Other writers on farm subjects, for both magazines and newspapers, were expected today because the event has attracted attention throughout the state.

T. R. Johnson of Lafayette, publicity agent for the extension department of Purdue university, and T. A. Coleman, in charge of county agent in Indiana, were here today as representatives of the university. George I. Christie, whose suggestion at Farmers Day last March, was in a measure responsible for the picnic today, was unable to be present, having been called to Chicago on business.

RUNS INTO BUGGY

An automobile driven south in Main street this morning shortly before noon, struck the delivery buggy of the Peoples Meat Market, but no serious damage, other than a broken shaft resulted. The machine was being driven slowly and the driver is said to have become confused.

CHRISTIE SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

Head of Purdue University Extension Department Regrets Inability to Attend

CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED

Declares in Message Read at Meeting This Afternoon Agriculture Depends on it

In a message to Fred Bell, president of the Rush county Farmers' association, read at the meeting in the coliseum this afternoon, George I. Christie, head of the Purdue university extension department, expressed his regrets at being unable to attend today and congratulated the people of Rush county on the get-together spirit shown at the meeting.

Prof. Christie comments on the dinner party given by the merchants of Rushville last March, at which he spoke. At that time he suggested that the farmers of the county give a picnic for the business men this fall and it was his suggestion that was a large measure responsible for the beginning of the movement which ended in the demonstration today. Prof. Christie said:

September 16, 1920

Dear Mr. Bell:—It is with deep regret that I find it impossible to attend the Rush County Farmers' and Business Men's Get-Together Dinner to be given by the Rush County Farmers' Association for the business men of the county.

The dinner given last March by the business men for the farmers of the county was one of the most enjoyable occasions that I have attended in the state. This was a demonstration on the part of the business men that they were interested in the farmers and that they wished to work out together, the common problems. The return dinner for the business men is a concrete demonstration of the appreciation of Rush County farmers for the many courtesies extended by the business men.

The agriculture of Rush County, of Indiana and of other states, depends upon the active, sympathetic, helpful co-operation of all the people. Agriculture is more than just the tilling of the soil and the feeding of live stock. This work may be profitable and yet, unless the farmers are happy and contented the largest development will not be secured. A satisfying country life depends upon good roads, good schools, good churches and above all, upon a community made up of men and women who are interested in progress along all lines and who are willing to work together for the enrichment of each other's lives and for the building up of the homes and the community. When any class organizes for selfish purposes and assumes the attitude that all other interests are against them; that the aim and object of their work should be to fight the other fellow, the first steps have been taken to break down community relationships and to make enemies instead of friends. On the other hand, when people organize

Modjeska's Home Town
(By United Press)

Posen, Poland (By Mail)—No Polish name during the past quarter century was better known, either in Poland or America, than that of Modjeska, the famous Shakespearian actress, who was exiled by Russia from her native land because of her too ardent patriotism, but who continued to fight for Poland in her own way during her long artistic career in the United States.

Although she died before Poland's independence was finally won, Modjeska never gave up hope that her country would be free. And today though she is no longer in the fight her family here in Poland are foremost among the leaders who are carrying on the work of rebuilding their country after five years of devastating war.

The day the first American Red Cross relief train entered Poland, it was met by a group of children, led by a young lady, all carrying armfuls of flowers "because there was nothing else left to offer the Americans." The girl was Modjeska's niece, and the children some of the war orphans she had already begun to care for.

In Posen the family of Chlapowski (Modjeska's real name having been the countess Chlapowski) is at present devoting itself entirely to the care of refugee war orphans, hundreds of whom, gathered up by the American Red Cross in all parts of the country, are sent to Posen to be placed in homes and institutions. Recently a large new refuge for those unfortunate children, many of whom lost all trace of their people in their wanderings across half of Russia, has been opened by two nieces of Modjeska.

At the beautiful country estate of the Chlapowskis near Posen, where Modjeska in the days before her exile used to rest and rehearse her famous roles of "Juliet" and "Mary, Queen of Scots," hundreds of refugee children, clothed in American Red Cross clothing, even to "bump shoes" and shoes, are now being and outdoor life.

Nature Will Do the Rest

Did you know that ninety per cent of all human ailments depend upon the condition of your blood? Nature gives her warnings in various unmistakable ways, so that when the appetite fails, and you become weak and listless and a general run-down condition seems to take possession of the whole body, it is an unfailing sign that impurities will steadily accumulate until your general health will be seriously affected. Finland Has Natural Daylight Saving and Develops Many Winners in Olympic

LIGHT FROM 1 A. M. TO 11 P. M.

By L. R. BLANCHARD
(U. F. Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Sept. 15.—If the United States congress regards sports, at all seriously, it will hearken to a recommendation from Finland.

Finland has natural daylight saving. As a result the Finns with an almost insignificant population to draw from, romped away with second honors in the track and field events of the Olympics this year.

E. W. Bromaz, a Chicago Finn, on learning that his countrymen had taken 105 points in the Olympics against the 92 of the English and 35 of the French said:

"Finland is a land of athletes. Boys and girls from infancy delight in outdoor sports because of the long days. It is daylight from 2 in the morning until 11 at night.

"When I was a boy I never got to bed until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. I was having too good a time playing outdoors.

"Most of the best athletes come from the cities because the universities are located there. Students are obliged to take part in daily calisthenics, a relic of the days when Finland was Swedish. The Finns have hundreds of athletic clubs and enjoy wonderful health and vitality because of the long hours of exercise in sunlight hours.

Explained.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One resident of Kansas City, Kan., raises every year 300 to 400 pounds of rabbit meat for his own table. It costs him only 8 to 10 cents a pound. There are an increasing number of people in this country who, to a greater or lesser degree, are cutting the high cost of living in the same way. Besides furnishing the home table with plenty of cheap meat, the rabbit grower can make money by marketing the surplus animals.

than $1,200. An Ohio farmer sends 400 pounds of rabbit meat a week to city restaurants, yet is unable to meet the demand.

Rabbit raising, either to supply the home table or the market, is steadily increasing in the United States. In the older countries rabbits have long been a valued source of cheap meat. The bureau of biological survey, United States department of agriculture, has recently issued a bulletin on rabbit raising in which the various breeds and their care and feeding are discussed. Recipes for the use of rabbit meat are also given. This Farmers' Bulletin, No. 1090, may be had free from the division of publications.

GOOD WHITEWASH FOR BARN

Not Difficult to Apply Where Liquid Is Carefully Made—Government Recipe Given.

Whitewashing should form a regular part of the care of all buildings where animals are kept and should be done twice a year at least. If whitewash is carefully made and strained, and applied with a spray, it is not a difficult job, and is a necessary, sanitary measure. This recipe has been published by the government:

Slake half a bushel of unslaked lime with boiling water, covering it during the process to keep in the steam. Strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer. Add to it a peck of salt previously dissolved in warm water, three pints of ground rice boiled to a thin gruel. Stir in these ingredients while the liquid is hot. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir well and let stand for a few days, covered as nearly airtight as possible.

CONSORTIUM ONLY HOPE FOR CHINA

Anfuities Whose Policies Disrupted Chinese Parliament Are Out—Chihilites Are In

CONDITION IS PROBLEMATIC

Without a Constitution or Parliament Vast Country Presents Spectacle as Sad as That of Mexico

By CHARLES EDWARD HOGUE
(U. F. Staff Correspondent)

Peking, Aug. 10. (By Mail).—Another of China's innumerable civil wars has come to a close and today the most optimistic of the nation's well wishers profess to see a possibility that the new Four-Power Consortium will be able to bring order out of chaos in this stricken country.

The Anfuities, whose militaristic policies disrupted parliament and emptied the nation's treasury, are out.

The Chihilites are in.

Whether the change in administration will mean any betterment of conditions is problematical. On one thing, however, everyone seems agreed; the consortium is China's real hope. If the business men and financiers of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan see fit to finance the republic, direct the expenditure of the funds they advance for that purpose and stamp out militarism at the capital there is a good chance that it will be only a short time before China will have a government that is functioning normally.

Today the nation is as a ship without a rudder. Without a constitution, a parliament, or any genuine cohesion between the various provinces this vast country presents a spectacle almost as sad as that of Mexico. But with the overthrow of the Anfuities some hope is seen that the Chihili cabinet can be held in check and a repetition of former abuses prevented.

General Tsao Kun, tuchun (military governor) of Chihili province, and his chief lieutenant, General Wu Pie-fu, one of China's ablest military men, believed the time was ripe for the overthrow of the Anfuities. They marched on Peking, sweeping aside the Anfu outposts and preparing to besiege the city.

But a seige was unnecessary, Gen. Chang Tso-lin, chief of the Mukden faction, a third party which had heretofore remained neutral, took the field and marched on Peking ostensibly to safeguard the person of the president. But he let it be known that his sympathies were with the Chihilites. Whereupon the Anfuities abdicated.

While the storms of war have been swirling about his head, President Hsu, who cannot be called a strong character, has been compelled to sit helplessly by. He will retain his chair as president while an effort is made to unite the various factions in a constitutional convention in Shanghai. As soon as a constitution can be agreed upon and adopted elections will be called and a new parliament formed.

In the meantime the secessionists at Canton have become so thoroughly embroiled among themselves that it is believed likely they will welcome an opportunity for compromise and participation in a general reorganization of the government.

You may think that brown is brown and blue is blue, yet when you see these frocks for Autumn you'll be surprised at the difference that a slight variation in color makes. All of which makes these modes with straighter lines just that much more interesting. Chemise frocks and redingotes are the two important features and you will approve of them; they are so becoming. For that matter you could classify them by a dozen different names for fashion had the forethought to distinguish one from the other by variety in the material and trimming effects.

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Sexton of Shelbyville had as their dinner guests Wednesday evening, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Sexton, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sexton, Dr. and Mrs. Cullen Sexton of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Green of Ft. Smith, Ark., who are visiting here.

While Mr. and Mrs. Orval Stewart of near Occident, with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newson, were attending the state fair on Wednesday of last week, Miss Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and Kenneth Herkless, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Herkless of Center, went to Newport, Ky., where they were married. The young couple will reside near Carthage. The bride was a student in the Carthage schools last year.

The all day meeting of the Sexton Missionary Society held Tuesday, proved to be one of the greatest days in the history of that organization. At the morning session a very appropriate program was given between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. M. Pratt, the society's president. Grateful For Relief Given Aged Mother

Miss Williams is Happily Surprised by Trutona's Unusual Merit as Reconstructive Agency

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 16—A glad and enthusiastic over the good Trutona has done me, but I simply lack the words to express my surprise and thanks for the relief of my mother's troubles," says Miss Sadie Williams, who lives in Evansville, at 808 East Pennsylvania Street.

"My mother had suffered from catarrh of the stomach and bronchial trouble for years. Because of her advanced age and the failure of so many medicines to do her any good, I almost despaired of her getting any relief."

"Both mother and I are now eating things we never before dared to touch, since taking Trutona. We both sleep soundly at night and neither of us is bothered with constipation any more. We're both certain we wouldn't have been sick so long had we known of Trutona sooner. Any one is welcome to call on us regarding the truth of this statement."

Trutona's healthful action reaches every portion of the body, and performs its work faithfully and efficiently. Trutona rebuilds diseased nerves and tissues, creates a healthy appetite and assists in the assimilation and digestion of the food.

Trutona is sold in Rushville at Hargrove & Mullin Druggists.—Adv.

H. Dean, Mrs. Jesse Winkler and son, all of Rushville; Mrs. J. B. Peary of Irvington; Mrs. John Wright and children of south of the city; Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Roll Rodgers, of near Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Siler, Mr. and Mrs. George Kendall, Mrs. Carol Clifton and children, Mrs. Ode Winkler, Mrs. Howard Steele, Mrs. Vester Casey, Mrs. Richard Gardner, Mrs. Fred Maple and child, Mrs. Harry Land, Mrs. Earl Scrubbs, Mrs. Charles Warlick and children and Mrs. Elsworth Kiser.

In the afternoon the guests went to the church in Sexton where an entertainment was given for the societies of the county. At the opening of the service Mrs. Pratt read the scripture lesson; Mrs. Elsworth Kiser offered prayer; Mrs. Cal Behar of Rushville sang, accompanied by Mrs. Dean on the piano. Mrs. J. B. Peary of Irvington gave a talk and Mrs. Robert Kennedy and Mrs. Grindle of this city, also gave brief addresses.

The following societies were represented at the meeting: Rushville, Manilla, Plum Creek, Fairview, Little Flat Rock and Ben Davis.

One of the most beautiful social events of the season at Orange was the marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth McKee to Edgar M. Starr of Connersville, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ida McKee, Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Proceeding the wedding ceremony Sidney Colecott of Kokomo rendered a program of vocal selections, and was accompanied on the piano by Miss Marie Whelan of Connersville. At the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal couple entered the living room and the ring ceremony was performed before an altar of ferns and fall flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. F. Schrontz, pastor of the Orange Christian church, during which Wilbur McKee, accompanied by Miss Whelan, rendered Traumeri on the violin.

The bride was dressed in white georgette crepe over white satin and wore a wedding veil caught in cap effect, with orange blossoms. She was unattended.

Following the wedding light refreshments were served. Only the immediate families and friends of the bridal couple were present. Mr. and Mrs. Starr left immediately after the serving of refreshments for Chicago, Ill., where they will spend a few days, after which they will return to Orange before departing for their new home in Pittsburg, Pa. The bride's going away gown was a brown tailored suit with accessories to match.

The bride is one of the popular young ladies of that community and the bridegroom is well known in Connersville, but for the last two years has been employed in Pittsburg, Pa., as instructor in mathematics in the Carnegie Technical Institute.

Mrs. Norman Crum and Mrs. Dick Smith were hostesses to the members of the Yomp club yesterday afternoon at the home of the former in West Seventh street. This meeting was much enjoyed with needlework. During the business session action was taken to form new plans for the coming year. Later in the afternoon a one course luncheon was served. The next meeting will be guest day and will be held at the home of Mrs. Amos Baxter, Sept. 30.

Miss Mabel E. Farlow of Milroy and Dwight L. Davidson of Lafayette, were quietly married last evening by E. A. Ball at his home in North Arthur street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Winship of North Morgan street had as their guests at dinner Thursday, J. W. Davis of Milroy, Mrs. Will Jones of Johnson county, and Mrs. Charlotte Morris and Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of this city.

There will be a box social at the L. O. O. F. Lodge room Monday evening, September 20 for the members of the Rebekah Lodge and their families. The ladies are requested to bring lunch for two.

New Fall Hats Are Colorful

By "MARJORIE"

(Written for United Press)

New York, Sept. 17—Although fall chapeaux have been "among those present" in the fashion world since early summer, it is the latest in-season models that are really dazzling the eyes of the populace with their bizarre, and almost weird effects. Nothing gorgeous and eccentric is out of place upon a fall feminine "fid." Hats that would feel very much "to home" upon the coifs of a Chinese coolie woman, an Algerian coffee house girl, a modern peasant are rakishly askew the marcelled waves of Milady of Gotham.

A prevalent mode is the transparent crowned turban of metallic lace or chiffon, copiously embroidered in "serpent of the Nile," or an Alsatian colored or iridescent beads. The narrow brim is generally swathed in a frayed Oriental silk, or twisted strands of wools or chenille. Color schemes are an incoherent blaze of rust and emerald cochin an areo, or something equally contrasting.

A Nell Gwynne fashion period effect is given by hats which dangle at each side long, heavy plumes of various colors. The hat, proper is cavalier shape, and generally of black or taupe velvet. But even of sombre color, the sweeping plume effect is too daring for many women and only a few are seen at the Ritz teas and hotel dances. Many hats harp back to period tendencies as the quaint Watteau poke bonnet with chin ribbons, or the Aslution bonnet with huge bow of suede or moire ribbon at the side-rear.

Another innovation is the use of stiff horsehair for trimming, rather than for the body of the hat as was formerly the case. One model made of crushed copper velvet is topped with little snail-like motifs wound from black horse-hair. Coarse, straight feather are in the majority such as glycerined ostrich, gay quills, or cockades. Little pompoms made of hempen rope and in a bunch of several garish hues, often flank the very front of a hat, or coyly dip over the forehead.

Dingle-dangles such as long earrings of jet, jade, or wooden beads still abound, especially upon the darker and more conservative hats, and tassels of silks tickle the ear-burns also. Duvelyn promises to be an all-winter fabric, although it is now dividing honors with the old standby velvet. The latter fabric emphasizes bead and silk trimmings, while the former specializes in wool embroideries or ribbon.

Evening hats of metallic laces or rich ribbons are favorites. The Paisley shawl pattern abounds in these ribbon hats, and brocades in rich tints of royal purple, deep rose, or emerald also abound. These confections of hat loveliness are very wide and droopy and are the only evidence that floral trimmings will be used.

Eiffel supplied $700,000 and the French government $300,000 for building the Eiffel tower.

Ancient Remedy for Toothache. The most popular remedy for toothache in ancient Egypt seems to have been a mixture of crushed hennane seeds with cement used as a filling. Coarse plumbago, palm fruit and honey was recommended for tightening the teeth and various forms of plaster were used. The cause of decay in those days was generally attributed, especially by the Chinese, to a little white worm which ate its way into the teeth and gums, and many various are the ancient recipes for destroying this worm.

Immense Throng Crowds City Park at Get-Together Party

ond vice-president, were expected to come this afternoon to get a glimpse of the crowd. Fred Bell, president of the Rush county association, was the happiest fellow on the grounds. He has worked untiringly and with his utmost energy—which is a lot—to put the county picnic over in great style, and no one doubts that he did not do it well. He got some very capable assistance from Donald Ball, county agent, Howard Ewbank, secretary of the county association, the township officers and a number of Rushville business men who served on committees and helped arrange the details for the function.

It was due to Fred Bell's devotion to the thing and his continual and never-ending insistence that the picnic not fail, together with the help of very energetic and faithful assistants, that resulted in the great measure of success realized today. "If it stopped right here," said Mr. Bell at noon, "I would be satisfied with the results. I knew it would be big, but I never in the greatest flight of my imagination thought it would go as big as this. The way people have responded to appeals for help to make this the biggest undertaking of its kind in the United States, repays me for all the effort I have made."

would be a total of sixty-eight prizes amounting in all to $710.

The definite announcement that the county corn show will be held was made today at the community picnic at the city park, and the prizes were announced.

The business men of Rushville have raised the money for the show and committees are already to work co-operating with Donald D. Ball, county agent, in making plans for it.

Four of the twelve township farmers association have voted to hold township shows in connection with the county show, each offering $25 in prizes, and there is every reason to believe that the remainder of the township associations will follow suit between now and time for the show.

There were will be two silver cups, which will be purchased at a cost of approximately $50 each, to be offered as grand prizes for sweepstakes in the classes for ten ears and a single ear, any color.

The cups will be competed for each year in successive corn shows. The rules of the show will provide for the winners to have their names engraved on the cups each time they win them, with the provision that any farmer winning the same cup three successive times becomes the sole owner of it.

The announcement today puts the proposed Rush county corn show on an equal with any corn show in the United States because the prizes offered total more than those offered at the state show and are said to be on an equal with the national show. The definite date for the show will be made public later. It will probably take place the first week in January, or one week before the Indiana corn show.

PARIS WILL FIGHT 8 MILLION RODENTS

City Is Said to Contain a Big Population of Rats Which Threaten to Spread Disease

ONE SUGGESTION IS OFFERED

By HENRY WOOD (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Sept. 1 (By Mail)—Poor Paris is particularly unlucky this summer.

She had counted absolutely on a veritable invasion of rich Americans, who would spend enough of their good hard dollars in France to cause the rate of exchange to readjust.

As a matter of fact, owing to the lack of steamships, only a very limited number of Americans has come.

And now in place of this very desirable invasion, Paris finds herself invaded with rats. Health specialists and newspapermen who have been peeping into the subject have the number of rats now in Paris at about 8,000,000.

As a matter of fact the rats have all been here for some time past, but no one thought about them until a few cases of pest were discovered about the city. While it was quickly established that these cases were purely sporadic and were easily isolated, it was pointed out, if Paris 8,000,000 rats should suddenly take it into their heads to see what they could do in the matter of propagating the pest or some other disease, they might make considerable headway before the Paris health authorities, in a counter offensive, could pull off another battle of the Marne.

As a result of the necessity of putting the rats out of business, Paris is developing a number of health strategists whose plans are as hardy and as promising as were those of Joffre himself at the Marne.

One of these strategists, Professor Bordes says it is as easy as pie. He says he can starve out the whole 8,000,000 in a week. His campaign of action is as follows:

"Up to the present time we have never engaged a serious battle in France against the rats. From time to time we have let loose an occasional offensive but never with any spirit of continuity and never with any appreciable gains. It is now highly important that we take a well-defined plan of defense.

"Now the quickest and best way of getting rid of the rats is not to devise ways and means to kill them, but to devise ways and means to keep them from eating, and the only way to do this is to change the present municipal service in such a manner that the garbage cans which are set out on the sidewalk by each family be collected and emptied at night instead of in the morning.

"Resting, as these garbage cans do, on the sidewalk all night, the rats have both the advantage of time and darkness, and of the absence of people on the street, in which to eat their fill therefrom. If these garbage cans were collected and emptied instead, Paris would be free of rats within a week. They would die of starvation."

While Professor Bordes' Fochsonian offensive against the rats is under consideration the city council has decided to grant the public health department sufficient funds in which to undertake, should it be so decided, some more expensive manner of turning the trick.

Woman Thinks She Is Privileged To Talk

"If anyone ever had a miserable stomach I surely had. It was growing worse, too all the time. Had severe pains and attacks every ten days or two weeks and had to call a doctor, who could only relieve me for a short while. Two years ago last February I took a treatment of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I have not had a spell of pain or misery since. My friends just wonder that I am looking so well. I feel I am privileged to talk about it." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At druggists everywhere.—(Adv.)

Americans Who Formerly Had Big Rolls and Were Flushed Change Views in London

CONTINENTALS ARE RICH

London. (By Mail).—Americans in London, who used to enjoy a reputation for always putting their hands "into their pockets" are now accused of "keeping their hands on their pockets."

This endears them, rather than otherwise, to the hearts of the hard-up Londoners, who for years have held that "a fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."

But the storekeepers have other views. A salesman in the Burlington Arcade, deploring the absence of that fat roll of notes he had always associated with American purchasers, said:

"Americans have no money this season. They hardly do anything but ask the price of things. It is the Continentals who have the money. We have sold more to French and Spanish visitors in the last month than to Americans in the whole season. The Continentals are full of money." Therefore the Continentals reap the salesman's smiles.

Now that the Englishman knows the American as a "pricer" it adds to the bond of friendship, for "pricing the goods" is about as far as the average Englishman's purchases ever get.

+ OLD MAUD FROM MISSOURI +
+ STILL ON ARMY PAYROLL +

San Antonio Texas, Sept. 17—The army mule is staging a comeback.

Drastic steps are being taken in the Southern Department of the U. S. Army, headquarters at San Antonio, for the restoration of the old methods of transportation used before the war emergency, according to Col. A. E. Saxton, adjutant. Cutting down expenses and inability to get parts for some of the automobiles at the camp are given as the reasons for the revival of the mule.

Colonel Saxton is expecting the horse and mule drawn wagons to be used for routine work while leaving the motor drawn vehicles for quick transportation.

NON-RESIDENTS MUST PAY THE STATE PRICE

Hunters Who Flock Here, Are Required to Pay $15.50 a Year License—Local is $1.00

WARDENS TO WATCH VIOLATOR

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17—Officials of the game department of conservation are inclined to believe that some hunters residing in other states are coming into Indiana and procuring resident hunting licenses to pursue the sport thus defrauding Indiana out of considerable money due thru the sale of non-resident licenses.

A resident license in Indiana costs $1, George N. Mannfeld, superintendent of the division of fish and game points out, and a non-resident license costs $15.50. Despite the fact that wardens have been diligent, it is possible for a man living in another state to come to Indiana, represent to the county clerk that he is a Hoosier resident and procure a $1 resident license when in fact he should pay $15.50 for the privilege of hunting with a non-resident license. Only 60 non-resident hunting licenses were sold in Indiana during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, and department officials are convinced many more hunters than this came from other states into Indiana in pursuit of game. To block any subterfuge which might be attempted relative to purchasing licenses this season, wardens have been organized particularly to watch this phase and will in case of doubt, compel a hunter under suspicion to establish his place of residence.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF RUSH COUNTY, INDIANA.

Come now, the undersigned and respectfully show to your Honorable Board that more than fifty of the undersigned are resident freeholders and voters of Rushville Township, Rush County, Indiana, and that said Rushville Township does not contain an incorporated town or city of thirty thousand inhabitants, but that said township does contain an incorporated city, Rushville, of between five and six thousand inhabitants, and contains no other incorporated town or city.

That a description of said portion which the undersigned desire improved is as follows: Beginning at the south end of Harrison street in the City of Rushville, Indiana, thence north along the center of said Harrison street to the center of the intersection of said street with Eighth street inside city; thence east along the center of Eighth street in said city to the east end of said Eighth street, where it intersects with the Ft. Wayne road; thence in a north-easterly direction along the center of said road to the intersection of said road with the Frank H. Green et al. highway.

Said petitioners would further show that the above described and paved to the width of said Harrison street and Eighth street, as they now are, and along said Ft. Wayne road the same should be improved by grading, draining and paving the same with creosoted wooden blocks or brick or cement.

That the same when so graded, drained and paved, will be of public utility.

The entire width of said highway from outside to outside to remain the same.

Your petitioners would further show to the Honorable Board that the said highway proposed to be improved is all in Rushville Township, Rush County, Indiana, and that the same is less than three miles in length. Also that a United States free rural mail route passes over a portion of the same.

Witness my hand and the seal of the Board of Commissioners of Rush County, Indiana, on the 9th day of October, 1920.

FOOTBALL HAS A FEW CHANGES

Several Slight Changes Are Made Which Adds Fairness and Cleanliness to the Sport

“CLIPPING” IS FORBIDDEN

Rules Call Diving Tackles From the Rear to Players Out of Play, is Roughness

By HEZE CLARK
(Written for United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17—With more than one hundred high school and college teams in Indiana starting training for football the followers of the gridiron sport are investigating to learn what changes have been made in the rules for the 1920 season.

Members of the rules committee have made few changes but those few will make the game more popular with both the players and the spectators. The changes are set out on pages four and five of the rule book.

The members of the football rules committee have changed the wording of certain rules which go to show that the interpretation placed on those rules last year by leading officials was correct. For example officials in many games ruled that the act of “clipping” a player who was obviously out of the play was unnecessary roughness. Some coaches objected to this ruling last season but this year there is no question that act is unnecessary roughness.

This change, if it could be called a change in the rules, is without a question one of the most important and best things that has ever happened the game of football. The writer has followed the gridiron sport for more than 25 years and feels free to state no type of rough play has caused more serious injuries than the “clipping” players who are obviously out of the play.

By “clipping” football men the diving at the opponents legs from behind striking the legs if possible below the knee with the body. This act when a man is running from the “clipper” while severe seldom results in injury as the body leans forward in running and the player “clipped” falls forward, but when a player is standing still or walking or trotting slowly across the field as a man generally does when out of play he is thrown backwards or side ways in such a way that severe pains are often the result.

Fairness has been the watch word of the rules committee at all times and that committee put more fairness into the rules when the punt-out was abolished. In years past if a team made a touch down near the corner of the field that team was forced to punt out from the location of the touchdown and take a chance on the ball being caught before having a chance to try for the one point gained by kicking the goal. This play won and lost many games.

Fairness again enters into the interpretation put on certain rules by the committee in changing the wording which makes more clear to officials of the state department of should be enforced.

Summed up in a few words the changes in the football rules will make the gridiron sport fairer, cleaner, less dangerous and faster.

DAIRYMEN DO MUCH TO INCREASE MILK SUPPLY

Members of “300 Pound Cow Club”, Dairyman Must Have 10 Cows Producing 300 Lb Butter Fat

7 WERE ELIGIBLE THIS YEAR

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 16—Leading dairymen through the breeding of high producing animals are doing much to increase milk and butter production per cow in the state, it was stated today by R. D. Canan, of the dairy extension staff of Purdue University in announcing the members for this year in the “300 Pound Cow Club”. To acquire such membership, a dairyman must have ten or more cows which have produced 300 pounds or more of butterfat during the year.

The seven dairymen eligible to the club this year are: J.S. Pattie and J.E. Edwards Warrick county; Herbert Grimwood, Vanderburgh county; E. P. Wilson, Ellis Frye and M. C. Johnson, Orange county; and William H. Senour, Franklin county. Mr. Grimwood's cows were high with an average production of 407.8 pounds of butterfat per cow. His average return was 2.40 for every dollar spent for feed.

“Unless a man has good, high producing dairy cows, he cannot get enough for his labor of caring for them, to really pay”, said Mr. Canan. “If at present prices received by the producer for milk, he must have a very efficient machine in the form of the dairy cow to convert feed into milk and butterfat to really make any profit. Indiana dairymen are turning rapidly to better stock.”

INDIANA FARMER HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

Was so Weak he Could Hardly Walk Before Taking Tanlac—Is Now Strong and Well.

“I have not only gotten rid of all the after effects of influenza, but have actually gained twenty-five pounds since taking Tanlac,” said Edward Kaluss, a well-known farmer of West Heights, R. F. D. Evansville, Ind.

“Six months ago I had a bad case of influenza that left my stomach so disordered that I could hardly eat anything; and a cough that worried me day and night. What little food I did eat formed gas, that pressed around my heart so I could hardly breathe. Sometimes I was deathly sick at my stomach and had such sharp pains that I could hardly stand. Finally my liver got out of order, I was badly constipated and had awful headaches.

“My kidneys were in bad shape and my back hurt like it was going to break and every bone in my body seemed to ache. Finally I got down in bed again and stayed there for six weeks. When I got up I was so weak it was all I could do to drag one foot after the other, and my nerves were shattered and it looked like I was just about played out.

“I got Tanlac on the advice of a friend and was rapidly improving before I finished the first bottle. I have taken three bottles now and am a well man. My appetite is so keen I can hardly get enough to eat, and everything agrees with me perfectly. My kidneys have quit worrying me and my nerves have quieted down so I sleep like a rock at night. I am not troubled with gas or shortness of breath, haven't an ache or pair of any kind, and have never felt better in my life.”

Tanlac is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson Co., in Milroy by Dallas Copper, in Manilla by Geo. J. Inlow, in Arlington by Mrs. L. T. Davis, in Carthage by Otto C. McGarty, and in New Salem by Mrs. Jos. Hankins, R. R. 2—Adv.
